Unequivocally, MERCYCREST '69 is a reminiscence of four years which are now memories. But more, it bespeaks a thrust into the unknown called future. Such a surge is made possible because of a permeating climate—a climate rich with a liberating truth which enables each one of us to reach out with security toward high tomorrows. Ours has been a freedom to search, to take that bold, cold plunge into the heart of things, to shout YES to life. MERCYCREST '69 affirms to the world: We are not afraid of tomorrow, for we have seen yesterday, and we love today.

Leaders to guide our Liberating search
Through the world
Of ideas

His Excellency, Most Reverend James L. Connolly, a friend to young people, has done much to promote Catholic secondary education in the diocese of Fall River. We thank him for helping to foster, by word and example, Mount's spirit of freedom to search.

Diocesan and

We seldom see Reverend Patrick O'Neill in person—his position as Superintendent of Schools makes him much in demand. However, we feel the effects of his great dedication and deeply appreciate all the time and energy he has exerted in order to promote academic excellence in our diocese.

The Most Reverend James J. Gerrard, Auxiliary Bishop of the Diocese of Fall River and a familiar figure in our area, continues to share his spiritual insights with Mount students. Bishop Gerrard has always been an encouragement and a real friend to Mount.

Meet Sister Kathleen Marie Farley, R.S.M., our principal. Always willing to listen to us with patience and understanding, Sister has shared both our joys and our problems during these past two years. The student body admires and respects her as an ideal administrator and a genuine friend.

School Leaders

Mother Mary Kieran Flynn, R.S.M., Mother Provincial of the Sisters of Mercy, is both the spiritual and educational leader of the Sisters and the students here at Mount. With this responsibility, Mother has had the satisfaction of knowing that she has enriched the lives of Mount girls.

Assuming the office of vice-principal is Sister Mary Ludvine Perry, R.S.M. Sister's other duties include teaching Spanish and religion besides acting as moderator of Student Council. Her door is always open to the students who need a friend and a confidant.

As head of the religion department, Sister Mary Denisita provides incentive for students in their "freedom to search" for God. Sister also teaches English and Spanish and serves as moderator of the Spanish Club.

Are we far from wrong if we guess that this lively discussion is on the merits of Judaism? Comparative Religions was just one of the many stimulating electives offered to this year's upperclassmen.

Religion

Search all things;
Hold fast that which is true

Latin declensions are just as much a part of Sister Mary Michella's day as a Hi-Time religion text. Latin students find further enrichment in the newly formed Latin Society moderated by Sister.

Art

Sister Arlene Mary, our "colorful" art instructor, also teaches English and moderates both the Humanities Club and Sodality.

Seniors, Joyce Andrews and Denise Levasseur, keep the ball rolling for Sister Mary Owen, our energetic gym instructress, basketball coach and history teacher.

"Start on three," whispers Sister Thérèse Mary to the Glee Club and Orchestra. Sister also teaches French and religion.

Music

Physical Education

Note the varied expressions of Sister Mary Adele's Portuguese class as Kathy McCann bravely ventures to answer a "difícil" question.

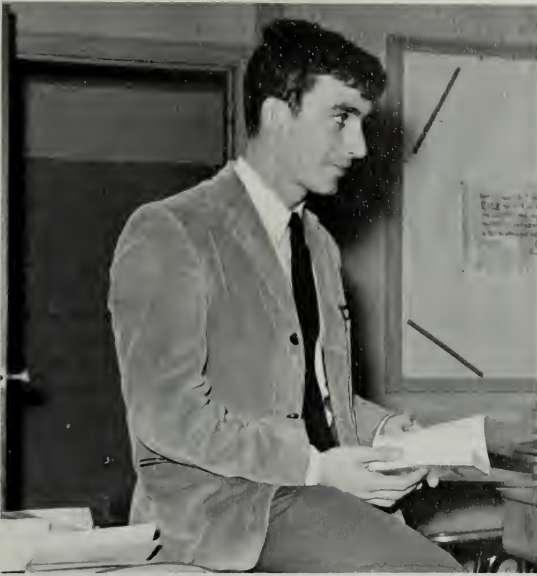

"En français," protests Sister Mary Adele to her French students. As head of our language department, Sister moderates the French Club and has initiated a course in Portuguese.

Language

In her first year at Mount, Sister Margarita Cecilia adds an authentic touch to her Spanish class; she is a native of Columbia.

English

Mr. James Shannon, who instructs Mount girls in the science of politics and the art of literature, also claims co-moderation of the Humanities Club.

Our two librarians, Sister Mary Bonaventure and Sister Marie Elizabeth, who also teaches English and religion and moderates the Mercycrest, stop to chat about modern library techniques.

"Fantastic!" exclaims Sister Carol Mary, who heads our English department and moderates the Mercian.

Science

Freedom to experiment,
To admit a failure,
And to seek a new avenue.

Any questions about acids, molecules or  $H_2O$ ? Ask Miss Marjorie Morin, our science and chemistry expert.

"Do you have it in focus?" inquire Paula Mosley and Nancy Lawlor as Kerry Mello attempts to find the nucleus of a cell.

Each day Sister Mary Albertus, science department head, greets her biology class with a "Good Morning" and a big smile. Between labs, Sister also moderates Senior Sodality.

Deeply intrigued by the theories of Descartes are our industrious Sophomores who, hopefully, appreciate the power of logical reasoning as it is presented in Sister Mary Phyllis' geometry class.

Mathematics

"Math can be fun" is the favorite expression of Sister Mary Maurice, head of the math department. Sister also leads our Math Meet contestants on to victory each year.

"Does this line intersect the plane?" questions Sister Mary Phyllis. Obviously, one geometry student knows. Teaching French and religion and moderating the Debate Club comprise Sister's many other challenges.

It couldn't be that some of our lively freshmen are falling asleep during history class!

Social Studies

"Does anyone know where the Yangtze River is located?" asks Sister Mary Antonine, head of Mount's history department.

Sister Linda Mary, a new addition to our faculty, adeptly handles physics, chemistry, and world history.

Deeply engrossed in their work are: foreground, Donna Gauthier, Nancy Martel, and background, Elaine Bouchard and Donna Castanho.

"Eyes on the copy," chants Sister Mary Gladys to the tune of clicking typewriter keys. Sister, who heads the business department teaches consumer economics, typing, bookkeeping and moderates the National Honor Society.

Business

Sister Mary LaSalette dictates to shorthand students: foreground, Nancy Sullivan, and background, Cathy Michel and Patricia Amore. Sister also assumes the responsibility of guidance counselor here at Mount.

UNDERCLASSMEN

The soul of a journey is liberty—
Perfect liberty—
To think, To feel, To do.

HAZLITT

Daddy's little girl, Catherine Lapointe, enjoys the festive atmosphere at the Father-Daughter Dance.

Hobbling across the stage at the Christmas Concert is Mount's own "mod" grandmother, Jeanne Berube.

Juniors

At 2:15 p.m., as they unload their lockers and "unwind," Denise Caron, Jane Charette, Dawn Hannafin, Gay Chrupcala and Diane Chabot exchange the day's many amusing experiences.

Just ask Joyce Blanchette, Catherine Madonna, Janice Pieri, Nicole Letendre, Elizabeth Malloy, Elizabeth Sullivan, Barbara Lacerda and Evelyn Santos. They can vouch for the success of last year's Calendar Party.

Peeking through Mount's family tree are juniors Rosemarie Murphy and Patricia Whalley.

Hurrying to capable leadership are the junior homeroom presidents, Diane Desmarais, Susan Pacheco, and Gay Chrupcala.

"Will the Great Pumpkin ever come?" wonders Lorraine Cabral at the Sodality Halloween Party. "My candle is melting away!"

There seems to be a new addition to the Sophomore Class. Perhaps it's one of the girls in disguise. Only they know for sure as they prepare to initiate the Freshman-Sophomore Frolic.

◀ Class presidents, Susan Pitera and Celeste Vezina capture that mischievous look which typifies every Mount Sophomore.

"Don't let us down! Get that ball in the basket!" are the exuberant cries of these loyal sops.

"What's up, Doc?" asks Mount's own Bugs Bunny, Kathleen Tavares, at the Halloween Masquerade.

Sophomores

Heading down the court at the Mount-Connolly powder puff game in "ladies first" fashion is Nancy Allen. Don't you find those gloves a little bulky for basketball, boys?

Nancy Romanowicz, Madeleine Lavoie, Mary Rego, Janine Gendreau, Louise Coppinger, Pauline Fortin, and Janet Tremblay proudly display their original creations designed for the annual French hat contest. Now turn around, girls!

Freshmen

What's the joke? Ask frosh homeroom presidents, Janet Tremblay and Cheryl Cusick. They know.

No one needs to ask what freshman Sandra Asselin's favorite period is! We all agree that lunch is a fun time and a welcome relief from the tension of daily classes.

It's amazing how quickly freshmen acquire the knack of carrying a mountain of books up and down stairs to daily classes. For lessons in "How to Balance Books Without Breaking Bones" see freshmen Janine Gendreau, Janet Tremblay, and Pauline Fortin.

You can bet Santa Claus was good to these three smiling freshmen Karen Venancio, Miriam Santiago and Kathleen Vasconcelles proudly display their endeavors in the art of Christmas decorating.

ACTIVITIES

Freedom has a thousand charms
to show.

Prefect Jane McDonald, treasurer Madeleine Desmarais, vice-prefect Monica Grace, and secretary Carol Costa extend a Halloween invitation to all.

Laurie Sampson, Pauline Gasior, Constance Beben, and Betty Ann Beam swing their paintbrushes in Sodality's "Paint the Paperback Pad" project.

Sodality

The Community of Christian Living accents the spiritual aspects of a Mount girl's life. By promoting Christian social attitudes through various activities such as Thanksgiving and Christmas Drives, and our own "Awareness Week," the Sodality has become an integral part of our school.

Could it be that Mount is losing face to the boys from Saint Vincent's Home? We hope not!

Active members of the Student Council are: Diane Chabot, Susan Pacheco, Laurie Sampson, and Cynthia Galvin.

Deborah Quental, treasurer; Denise Vezina, secretary; Christine Talbot, vice-president; and Elizabeth Perry, president, ponder the value of green stamps.

Student Council

Endeavoring to uphold the principle that the school body itself is the very foundation of the Student Council, this organization is based on the initiative of its leaders and on the wholehearted support of the students whom it represents. Members sponsor activities and attend leadership workshops and conferences, hoping to acquire new ideas which will help them to perform their duties more effectively.

Elizabeth Perry delivers a speech at the Student Council Installation while guest speaker, David Poisson, looks on.

Sister Kathleen Farley presents Anne Hefko with the National Honor Society's pin of achievement.

Looking up to an active year are National Honor Society president Patricia Talbot, treasurer Donna Cabral, secretary Cheryl Furtado, and vice-president Suzanne Paquette.

National Honor Society

From the time a girl enters Mount, she begins to strive toward many goals. One of these is election into the National Honor Society, which is determined by one's service, scholarship, leadership, and character.

January brought the induction of seventeen members of the Class of 1969 into the National Honor Society. Sister Kathleen Farley proudly presided over this occasion.

Debate Society

Nothing can be imperiously imposed upon a free mind.

Debating offers an excellent opportunity to express views on current issues. Members not only learn the art of public speaking, but more, they gain a deep appreciation for the opinions of others.

Mr. Daniel Larkin instructs the members of the Debate Club in the persuasive defense or defeat of the status quo.

"Friends, Americans, Countrymen: Do you believe in the draft?" asks Cynthia O'Connell.

Debate Society officers are: Kathy Polak, secretary; Carol Vasconcellos, treasurer; Cheryl Rousseau, president; Cynthia O'Connell, librarian; and Dawn Hannafin, vice-president.

Language Clubs

Mount girls become acquainted with customs and people of foreign countries through the language clubs. International highlights during the year include a Spanish fiesta and a traditional French hat contest on St. Catherine's Day.

Annette Amiot, Lorna Bronhard, Patricia Golden, Marguerite Letendre, and Jeanne Berube help Janice Rybka create a Parisian masterpiece.

◀ "Tortillas anyone?" Jane Charette, Barbara Lacerda, Margaret Comeau and Patricia Cummings, Spanish Club officers, plan their annual festive supper.

Officers of the Latin Club are Gail Albernaz, vice-president; JoAnn Przewoznik, secretary; Patricia Crosson, president; and Ann Marie Plaziak, treasurer.

Humanities Club

Freedom needs all her poets to give her aspirations wings.

Humanities Club is responsible for increasing the knowledge and appreciation of the fine arts as part of our past heritage as well as of our contemporary society. Club activities vary, from participation in field trips, to performances in Christmas plays, to research in the field of art.

Busily practicing a scene from Mount's production of The Bird's Christmas Carol are Susan Hinchcliffe, Janice Pieri, and Denise Messier.

Anne Hefko, editor-in-chief, critically scans through this year's first issue of the Mercian.

Mercian

Freedom to think as we wish and to speak as we think.

Girls who possess a flair for writing or reporting often find work on the school newspaper exciting and profitable. The Mercian contains news pertaining to all four classes and touching upon all aspects of life at Mount. Besides keeping us abreast of current school happenings, the Mercian also contributes to school spirit.

Meet the Mercian staff: seated—Patricia Golden, Maureen Cassidy, Colleen McDonald, Gail Moniz; standing—Nancy Martel, Joan Flanagan, Denise Ouellette, and Maureen Janick.

Checking and rechecking is editor Mary Tyrrell's secret in creating a unique and distinctive yearbook.

Mercycrest

"Freedom to Search," this year's Mercycrest theme, has been explored and developed by our hard-working yearbook corps. Amid the laughter, pencil-chewing, and head-scratching which characterizes every pulsating meeting, the staff members proudly emerge with their remembrance of the '68-'69 school year.

Cheryl Furtado, Suzanne Paquette, and Anne Bibeau, co-editors of the Mercycrest, abandon their daily routine long enough to attend the Yearbook Conference at Columbia University.

Deborah Quental, Christine Talbot, Jane McDonald, Denise Vezina, Patricia Talbot, Christine Wilding and Diane Lavoie all played a part in producing the 1969 Mercycrest.

"Here comes the judge!" shudders Anne Bibeau as she anxiously awaits the outcome of her scientific endeavors at Mount's annual Science Fair.

Cheryl Rousseau, president of Science Club, shows Dawn Hannafin, secretary-treasurer, and Laurie Sampson, vice-president, the scientific art of measuring.

Science Club

Science Club opens pathways of discovery to students interested in various and sundry phases of scientific research. Young potential scientists explore the entire gamut of "ologies," then display their spoils at the annual Science Fair.

"Soccer, anyone?" inquires Gay Chrupcala in an action packed basketball game against Dominican Academy.

Laurian Cavanagh, Lorna Bronhard, Denise Levasseur, and Patricia Golden anticipate a landslide victory.

Sports

Mount's gym is always permeated with a lively atmosphere of school spirit. By their vigorous contortions our peppy cheerleaders give the basketball team the courage they need to win their games. In intramurals students take part in the athletic life of the school, and thrilling Gym Jamborees provide a great time for all.

"M-O-U-N-T-I" exclaim our jubilant cheerleaders. Led by Marilyn Bentley are: Susan Morin, Judith Pimental, Deborah Medeiros, Suzanne Lauzier, Maureen Sayward, Barbara Lacerda, and Mary Cavanagh.

Music Clubs

Music is often needed to lend the proper atmosphere to Mount's programs. The orchestra is always willing to supply their varied selections. With the aid of Laurie Sampson, vice-president; Alice McManus and Gayle Raposa, librarians; Donna Imbriglio, president; Mary Crosson, secretary; and Diane Desmarais, treasurer, the orchestra members spend long hours rehearsing to insure perfect harmony.

Vocal entertainment for most school functions is provided by the Glee Club. Here Janice Pieri, president; Patricia Talbot, treasurer; Suzanne Goulet and Jane Charette, librarians; Janice Rybka, secretary; and Diane Lavoie, vice-president, are busily preparing musical arrangements for their annual Christmas Program. The club's melodious voice can also be heard at the Spring Concert, held toward the end of the school calendar.

At their annual Spring Concert the Glee Club successfully presents another superb program.

In a scene from Goodbye, Lizzie Borden, Ann Marie Bevilacqua shows her guilt as a shocked Christine Talbot and Janice Pieri look on.

Don't lose your cool, Emma, or Lizzie will lose her head! Mount's production of Goodbye, Lizzie Borden, starred Ann Marie Bevilacqua and Christine Talbot.

Drama

Mount's theatrical ability was exhibited in two diverse plays. A blood-chilling murder tale of Fall River's infamous Lizzie Borden, and a dramatic conflict between Anne Boleyn and Catherine of Aragon captivated their audience. Lizzie Borden and Red Queen, White Queen, proved to be a successful contrast.

In the majestic performance of Red Queen, White Queen, Anne Potvin strikes a dramatic pose in her portrayal of Catherine of Aragon.

One elegant 'femme fatale,' Joan Flanagan, pauses to speak to two other lovely damsels, Denise Berube and Sharon Guimond, as they dine on the exquisite cuisine of the Sheraton Biltmore in Providence. The charming evening lent itself to the quiet sharing of the "Magical Moments" of their Senior Prom.

Proms

Donna Castanho and her escort, Frank Sullivan, pause in the excitement of the Junior Prom just long enough to recapture this moment in a priceless portrait.

I say! Was our Junior prom a stuffy, snobby, high-collar affair? Decidedly not! To our young debutant, Judith Mis, and her gallant escort, James Hardy, it proved to be quite the opposite as they really swing it!

Gayle Raposa and her father participate in the gay festivities at the annual Father-Daughter Dance.

Dances

Amid the atmosphere of cornstalks and pumpkins at Mount's Harvest Hop, Anne Collington and her date swing to the sounds of '68. This annual event, held on Thanksgiving eve, spurs school spirit between both under and upperclassmen and puts everyone in a gay holiday mood.

Nothing's so hard but search will find it out.
